Overnight works on St. Martins Way 13 -17 December

As part of the current works in the city centre to reinstate the highway following the construction of a new surface rainwater drain, and to reduce the impact on traffic during the day; the following overnight resurfacing works and road closures will take place:

- Monday 13 December - overnight from 8pm to 6am – Planing (removal of old road surface) St. Martins Way southbound in front of new Northgate car park and Princess Street. St. Martins Way will remain open northbound.
- Tuesday 14 December - overnight from 8pm to 6am – Planing (removal of old road surface) St. Martins Way northbound between Watergate Street junction and Sens Close. Requiring the closure of St. Martins Way northbound with diversions in place. St. Martins Way open southbound from Hunter Street to Grosvenor Roundabout.
- Wednesday 15 December - overnight from 8pm to 6am – Resurfacing St. Martins Way northbound between Watergate Street junction and Sens Close. Requiring the closure of St. Martins Way northbound with diversions in place. St. Martins Way open southbound from Hunter Street to Grosvenor Roundabout.
- Thursday 16 December - overnight from 8pm to 6am – Resurfacing Princess Street. St. Martins Way will remain open northbound.
- Friday 17 December - overnight from 8pm to 6am – Resurfacing St. Martins Way southbound in front of new Northgate car park and across Princess Street. St. Martins Way will remain open northbound.

To help minimise the impact, the contractors will strive to ensure that the most noisy and disruptive works are carried out between 8pm and 10:30pm where possible each evening. They will also aim to maintain access to and from Princess/Trinity Street, Hunter Street and Sens Close, although some delays may be experienced while the works are underway and to ensure your safety while equipment is moved out of the way. Apologies for any disruption or inconvenience caused during these reinstatement works.
