Traders get their first look inside Chester's new Market

Market traders have been able to get a glimpse of their future with a visit to the new market hall as further traders are announced.

With work well underway inside the market, traders were able to see where their stalls will be located and get a sense of how the new 36,000 sq. ft. space will feel. Two further experienced current traders have also confirmed their intention to make the move to the new market: Crustum and Stephen Cartridge Fishmonger.

Crustum has been trading in Chester market since 2018, owner Wiktoria Glazer said: We are looking forward to improving and growing further in the new market with excitement and passion, our core service is modern and casual dining which includes breakfast, brunch and lunch, where we offer fresh, simple and authentic dishes using local produce and are now proud to be 100% vegetarian."

Steven Cartridge has been the fishmonger in the current market for over 20 years, providing fresh fish and seafood for customers and local restaurants. Stephen said: "As I live a few miles from Fleetwood I can assure my customers that all my fish and seafood will continue to be 'same-day docks to counter fresh', and far fresher and nutritious than anything supermarkets can offer. When the new market opens you can rely on me to offer a fantastic range of fish and seafood at great value."
